Dutchess Fair . . . Attendance Record Set

RHINEBECK
The Dutchess County Fair concluded its 127th edition Sunday night with another record as 177,949 persons poured through the gates at the Rhinebeck fair grounds for the six-day event.

Fair Executive Richard Lloyd was understandably elated with this year's record which broke the 1971 attendance mark of 171,317. "It was really great, and the people were so wonderful," Lloyd said. "Our customers are wonderful people and our committees did a tremendous job." Sunday was Firemen's Day at the fair which also featured folk singer Don McLean and the Estelle and Alfonso Dance Group, "back by popular demand," according to Lloyd. Thirty-three trophies were awarded following the parade which featured 24 Hudson Valley fire companies, 14 auxiliaries and 15 drum corps.

Arlington Fire Company took first prize in the best appearing company of more than 35 men with LaGrange Volunteers taking second in that category. Millerton Volunteers took first prize in the 25-34 man category followed by Dover Plains. Hometown favorites, Rhinebeck and Hillside placed first and second, respectively in the 15-24 man class. In the 14-man-and-under category, Poughkeepsie Exempts placed first followed by New Hackensack Fire Company. The Roosevelt Fire Company had the best ladies auxiliary with Beekman Fire Department running second. Coronamer Valley from Newburgh was the top fire band and the Queens Village Queens from Warwick was the best drum corps. The Bloomington Fire Company from Ulster County took second prize in the best company under 25 men from outside Dutchess County, with Sharon, Conn., winning in that category.

Nixon, Laird to Talk ...All-Volunteer Army

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon looked today toward a further reduction in U.S. troops in Vietnam and the establishment of an all-volunteer army in less than a year. Nixon planned to discuss both topics today with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, White House aides reported. Laird was due to meet with Nixon today at the Western White House. Nixon's villa overlooking the Pacific where he is staying until after Labor Day. Nixon was expected to review with Laird final figures on a new U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam. White House aides said he would announce Tuesday or Wednesday a further cut to be achieved after Sept. 1, when the U.S. force level will be down to 39,000. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that Laird would report on Pentagon studies undertaken to carry out Nixon's pledge made three years ago to create an all-volunteer army. The elimination of the draft and reliance solely on enlistments was expected to be a major political boon for Nixon among the newly enfranchised 18-to-20-year-old voters. Shortly after assuming office, Nixon ordered a study of the possibility of moving to an all-volunteer defense establishment. Nixon claims credit for slashing the draft drastically from 1969, when upwards of 250,000 men a year were being called to arms, to a quota of 25,000 for the first six months of this year. The goal of ending conscription by next July is now considered a virtual certainty in the White House. The President also takes credit for having eliminated one of the criticisms of the draft—years of uncertainty about the future for young men—by presiding over the switch to a lottery system. It allows determination early of which men will face the greatest chance of being called up, and which can make plans for chatting on an overcast, sultry evening at his villa overlooking the Pacific, told his guests he had a projection room installed in the White House "so I can watch more movies. Pat and I both love motion pictures. They're not interrupted by commercials." He said that no X-rated film from his summit meeting with Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka Thursday and an hour of an R-rated movie, and that's as far as were going to go. Secretary of State William P. Rogers was flying in Tuesday to join Nixon in the talks on the jingoistic but I prefer motion picture questions of Japan's pictures made in Hollywood. This is where they began, this the $3.8 billion U.S. trade imbalance with Japan. The President took Hollywood by a landslide Sunday, with Kissinger, who takes a ribbing more stars turning out for a for his image as the administration's swinging bachelor, House than have been seen at any Academy Award ceremony. "I never knew there were so many closet Republicans," years and finally persuaded me to vote for the President," said the cracked Vince Edwards, television's Dr. Ben Casey, at the Miss St. John. Turning to newsmen, Kissinger quipped, "And you guys thought I was just wasting my time out here."

Northern Ireland Death Toll . . . Weekend Violence Raises Figure

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—At least nine persons died violently Saturday and Sunday, bringing to 529 the province's death toll since the Roman Catholic-Protestant strife erupted in 1969. The dead included a British army sergeant cut down by a sniper bullet in the neck Sunday in the Creggagh Heights district of Londonderry. He was the first British soldier killed in a former Catholic "no-go" area since the British army moved in on them a month ago. An army spokesman said the Downpatrick deaths and others of persons carrying explosive devices that exploded prematurely as a result of tighter control on sources of gelignite in both Northern Ireland and the neighboring Republic of Ireland. He said would-be bombers were forced to manufacture their own explosives from a highly unstable mixture of nitrobenzene and domestic fertilizer. The slightest slip while the explosive was being primed was enough to set it off, he said, as apparently happened at Downpatrick. A spate of minor explosions took place throughout the province around midnight. A British army paratrooper patrolling near the Ardoyne area north of Belfast was struck by a bullet shortly after midnight, but the bullet failed to penetrate his flak jacket. A 24-year-old Belfast man was reported seriously wounded after a shootout between Royal Marines and a gunman in the Unity Flats district. One soldier was shot and wounded and the marines claimed the civilian was a gunman. The army admitted it let slip through its fingers two of the province's most wanted men—Provisional IRA leader Frankie McGuigan, the only man to escape from Long Kesh internment camp, and his brother, Michael. Both showed up at Ardoyne Saturday for Michael's wedding in Holy Cross Roman Catholic church to the former Rosemary Donnelly. Frankie slipped across the border from the Republic to act as best man.

EARLY DEPARTURE—While fire engine ladders extend to the elevated tracks, passengers walk in single file from a Boston rapid transit train after vandals set fire to one of the cars Sunday. The Mass. Bay Transportation Authority train heading toward Forest Hills was carrying 80 passengers when vandals threw paint cans on the tracks. The train screeched to a halt, and smoke quickly filled one of the cars. There were no serious injuries; an off-duty fireman en route to work was credited with keeping the passengers from panicking. ## Irving Begins Prison Term

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Clifford Irving went to jail today, brightened by the hope of an early parole but shackled to a rockpile of debts following a stormy literary career. Irving, who admittedly last ermined the phony Howard Hughes autobiography and sold the hoax to McGraw-Hill for $650,000, begins his 2-year sentence at the federal penitentiary here. He will be eligible for parole after 10 months of his sentence passes. Even if his parole is denied, he can cut 10 months from the term for good behavior. The 41-year-old writer, his wife Edith and researcher Richard Susskind pleaded guilty to conspiracy in the hoax. Mrs. Irving has already served a two-month sentence in the conspiracy. She pleaded guilty to forging Hughes' name at Swiss banks to McGraw-Hill checks written to the billionaire recluse. Irving estimated that he has a $1 million debt hanging over him as he enters prison. Both he and his wife were fined $10,000 and he was ordered to pay a tax bill in connection with the hoax. But the writer has also been ordered to repay the $650,000 to McGraw-Hill. The money has been seized by the government. Last week, Irving faced more financial problems because of another book he had written entitled "Fake." International art dealer Ferdinand Legros of Geneva made attachments on Irving's current and future income. Those debts

Ulster County, however, fared better than many other areas of New York State. Seventy-mile-an-hour winds that uprooted trees and blew down stone walls were reported near Utica. More than an inch of throughout most of the city was disrupted for a time Sunday by the intense storm. Norwood Locke of the City Engineer's office reported that 8.5 inches of rain fell in the city Sunday. Usual flooding problems were encountered on The Strand Sunday when high tide coincided with the heavy rainfall. The road was barricaded for a time, according to BPW Superintendent Charles Cole. Flood conditions were also evident at the Broadway underpass and on East Chester Street. A tree was uprooted on Wilbur Avenue. As bad as the situation was on Sunday, Cole said it was even worse Friday night. The area was hardest hit early Sunday afternoon. Heavy thunder and lightning accompanied the rain; thunder and lightning continued Sunday night. New York Telephone Co. said it had no storm-related service interruptions Sunday. Heaviest storm-inflicted damage occurred in Woodgate Corners near Utica, where 70-mile-per-hour wind gusts blew over the concrete wall of a firehouse. Slightly cooler temperatures and blue skies played finale to the storm early today throughout most of Eastern New York.

City Man Is Killed In Golf Cart Mishap

TOWN OF CAIRO identified were released after treatment. A 19-year-old New York City man was fatally injured and three others were hurt at 8 p.m. Sunday when the motor-operated golf cart in which they were riding went out of control and rolled down a steep hill on the Ira Vail Road in this Greene County community. Leeds State Police identified the dead youth as Robert Decerra of 346 13th Street, New York City. According to police, the golf cart was being operated by Roberto Martinez, 20, of Manhattan. As the vehicle rolled down a steep hill the operator and two other youths jumped to the pavement. They escaped with cuts and bruises. Decerra remained in the cart as it veered off the highway and down an embankment. The injured were treated at Greene County Memorial Hospital. Martinez was admitted for further observation. ## Diamond Carries Campaign to Publishers

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Environmental Conservation Commissioner Henry L. Diamond carried his campaign for the proposed $1.15 billion state environmental bond issue to the New York State Publisher's Association today, declaring there is a need "to match high environmental rhetoric with hard economic arithmetic."

In a speech prepared for delivery at the publisher's convention here, Diamond said "the easy part of the environmental movement is over. The face. Now . . . we have to be prepared to spend money to translate these speeches into aware of the problems that we programs."

Alleged Bugging, Campaign Financing

Counter Challenges by Democrats, Republicans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats are calling for an independent investigation of the alleged bugging of the party's national committee offices. Republicans want Sen. George S. McGovern's campaign financing investigated.

These counter challenges developed following a report last weekend by the General Accounting Office (GAO), congressional investigative agency, that charged the Committee to Re-Elect the President with 11 apparent or possible violations of the 1971 Federal Election Campaign Act in the handling of $350,000 in contributions.

The GAO said that $114,000 of the campaign funds was deposited in the bank account of Bernard L. Barker, one of five men arrested with elaborate electronic gear June 17 in the Democratic offices. Barker is a former employee of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

Referring to the Justice Department investigation of circumstances surrounding the break-in, McGovern's political director Frank Mankiewicz said Sunday, "In a well-ordered society you don't ask the fox who got into the chicken coop."

Mankiewicz said that a special prosecutor should be appointed, independent of the Justice Department, "since people in or near the administration are obviously involved" in the case.

He said in a CBS-TV interview that President Nixon "is now sitting on a major scandal...that affects the entire administration."

Maurice H. Stans, former commerce secretary who now directs fund-raising for Nixon's campaign, insists he has no idea how the money got to Barker's account.

Stans called Sunday for a GAO investigation of McGovern's campaign organization, "which we have reason to believe will be very revealing."

In a statement, Stans denied any violations by the Committee to Re-Elect the President. The GAO findings were referred to the Justice Department. Stans said the GAO had been pressured by "McGovern campaign operatives" into rushing into print what he called an incomplete, loosely drawn report.

"The only point in the report which under a strained construction...might indicate a technical violation was the expenditure of a $2,500 expense in cashing certain checks," Stans said. "Without conceding a violation, the committee is promptly amending its June 10 report to include this $2,500 expenditure."

Four Nixon campaign checks worth $89,000 were drawn on a Mexico City bank and deposited in Barker's account, the GAO report said. The other $25,000 that found its way to Barker's account was a campaign gift from a wealthy Minneapolis investor, the report added.

McGovern Mail Drive . . . $25 Million Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Morris Dees, who learned the direct mail business with birthday cakes and a list of 15,000 names, hopes to write 10 million Americans before election day in search of contributions for George McGovern's presidential bid.

The massive effort, to be bolstered by television, newspaper and door-to-door appeals, will hopefully bring in $25 million for McGovern's campaign war chest, Dees says.

The 35-year-old Montgomery, Ala., direct mail expert, cattle rancher and lawyer announced today $1.8 million in mail contributions had been received at McGovern headquarters between the Democratic convention in early July and last Friday.

Dees, who started in the direct mail business in 1956 selling birthday cakes to University of Alabama students, said Sunday, "We're already close to $2 million. That just leaves us $23 million to go."

Despite the long road ahead, Dees said, he, McGovern and the other campaign planners are very optimistic about the response so far to appeals for funds.

"We've been real pleased with our mail," Dees said. "It's not even the first of September yet. There's kind of a religious movement going on in this campaign. People give almost like they give tithings at church. People really believe in this movement."

Dees said today 173,220 people—63,220 of them since the Democratic convention—have already joined what the campaign has dubbed the Million

Member Club by contributing to McGovern's campaign this year.

McGovern and his aides hope to rely more on smaller contributions from millions of individuals voters than on the large donations from the so-called fat cats of industry, labor and other groups. Nevertheless, McGovern has courted those potential contributors as well. In many cities on his campaign trail he meets with likely donors in open reception or closed meetings.

Dees, who said he works for McGovern on a volunteer basis representing more than half the 13.6 million members in the AFL-CIO have come out in support of McGovern.

Union sources said the McGovern supporters on the council, led by Communications Workers President Joseph Beirne, may try to get the council to reverse itself this week and endorse McGovern.

Or as an alternative, the council may be urged to allow its state and local AFL-CIO councils to endorse McGovern.

and even pays his own personal travel and living expenses when in Washington, said an early batch of mail appeals is going to 505,000 people who have already given to McGovern or the Democratic Party.

Those names were compiled, he said, by adding the 119,000 who contributed to McGovern during the primary elections this year, 75,000 names on the Democratic National Committee and 320,000 people who pledged contributions during the party's tele-convention in July. "If I can't get those 505,000 people to give once over the course of the campaign by writing them several times, I'm going to turn in my license," Dees said. "But, to be conservative, I can surely get 75 per cent of them to give."

McGovern supporters probably would not make a serious effort or push for a formal vote by the council without getting assurance beforehand that Meany would support a McGovern endorsement or at least not oppose it as he did last month.

There did not appear to be any chance for Meany to change his mind. His aides said they did not expect the subject of a McGovern endorsement to even come up at the council meeting, expected to last two days. Meany, 78, has pictured McGovern as antilabor, but the AFL-CIO itself rates McGovern's voting record in Congress as more than 93 per cent right on labor issues. Meany is a hawk on Vietnam, and McGovern's dovish proposals to pull out of Vietnam within 90 days and to "beg" Hanoi for the release of American prisoners haven't settled well with Meany.

Lindsay Recommends Special State Prosecutor

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has proposed that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller appoint a special commissioner for criminal justice to fight corruption and monitor efficiency among the police and courts throughout the state.

Lindsay made the proposal Sunday as an alternative to the key Knapp Commission recommendation that the governor appoint a special deputy state attorney general to investigate and prosecute corruption solely in New York City's criminal justice system.

In his first detailed comment on the Knapp report, Lindsay said a special state prosecutor would duplicate the functions of existing agencies and increase rivalries and overlapping investigations. His own proposal was "far more effective and sensible," he said.

The key differences in the Knapp and Lindsay plans are that the commissioner would have statewide jurisdiction instead of just in the city, but would investigate and report only, instead of prosecuting as in the Knapp proposal.

Lindsay said the commissioner should have "broad powers to set standards of performance, audit operations, and investigate complaints regarding any agency in the criminal justice system—police, district attorneys, courts, probation, parole, corrections and the private bar."

Cases developed by the commissioner would be turned over to the district attorney, state attorney general or U.S. attorney for prosecution. The Knapp panel said local prosecutors work too closely with police to be able to pursue such cases fully.

A spokesman for Rockefeller, who will make the ultimate decision on which, if any, of the proposals to use, said the governor would weigh the Lindsay suggestion along with others. He said a decision could be expected by or soon after Labor Day.

The Knapp Commission was appointed by Lindsay to investigate reports of police corruption. After a two-year probe, it concluded that corruption was widespread and recommended a series of steps to deal with the problem.

In his statement, Lindsay said the commission "performed a distinguished service" in exposing police corruption but noted that it had "failed to acknowledge" the present anti-corruption efforts of the city's prosecutors.

Of his proposed statewide commissioner, Lindsay said: "Broad as his powers would be, he would not substitute his own authority for the ultimate responsibility of elected district attorneys for prosecution of cases and related aspects of law enforcement.

This will be their first opportunity for extensive campaign planning since Shriver was named as the vice presidential nominee to replace Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., the spokesman said.

Scrubbed for Shriver this week were trips to East St. Louis, Peoria and Carbondale, Ill.; Des Moines, Iowa; Milwaukee, Wis.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; St. Paul, Minn.; Columbus, Ohio, and Syracuse, N.Y. The trips will be rescheduled, McGovern is scheduled to be in Washington all week except on Tuesday for a television appearance Wednesday morning. McGovern's staff insists that the polls, showing him 26 percentage points behind in his campaign films showing McGovern at his most effective—standing in a cluster of workers in a sweltering machine shop—date has only begun to do

Socialist Workers Party to File in State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Socialist Workers party planned today to file nominating petitions to get its candidates for president and vice president on the November election ballot in New York State.

The party said it had 35,000 signatures on the petitions—15,000 more than needed—for submission today to the Secretary of State's office in Albany. The Socialist Workers platform calls for expropriation of the major corporations and banks and an economy planned "for the benefit of all instead of for the profit of the few." The plank calls for immediate American withdrawal from Indochina and the dismantling of all U.S. military bases abroad.

Linda Jenness, a 31-year-old activist from Georgia, is the party's candidate for president. She ran for mayor of Atlanta in 1969 and for governor of Georgia in 1970.

The vice-presidential candidate is Andrew Pulley, 21, of Cleveland, who went into the Army in 1968 when he was given the choice of military service or prison for his actions in a high school protest over the assassination of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., the party said.

He was an anti-war activist in the Army and ran for Congress on the party's slate in California in 1970.

Neither of the candidates meets the constitutional age requirement, which is 35 years.

Cardinal Mindszenty Back With His People

BRUSSELS (UPI) — On a back pew a wizened old woman twisted a small handkerchief nervously around her trembling fingers and knelt on the cold stone floor.

Around her, thousands of Hungarian refugees stood on pews, in the extra chairs and even climbed pillars. Tears glistened in men's eyes and women wept openly for joy.

Up the aisle, limping along behind a Hungarian flag and the yellow and white Vatican banner, came the stooped, aging figure of Cardinal Jozsef Mindszenty.

They all waited 15 years for this day, and the more than 3,000 Hungarians from throughout Western Europe broke into cheers at the sight of the 80-year-old primate of Hungary, banished from his homeland but once again among his refugee flock.

It had been 10 months since he accepted a personal appeal from Pope Paul VI and took up the "heaviest cross of my life."

He ended his 15 years exile inside the U.S. embassy in Budapest and returned to another exile away from his beloved Hungary and "the people I love."

He came to Brussels to be among his fellow exiles and the message he brought them Sunday was an appeal to Hungarians everywhere to defend the faith which Saint Stephen gave them a millennia ago. His mass in Brussels' Sacred Heart Cathedral commemorated the 1,000th anniversary of the first Hungarian king.

"Pray for the freedom of oppressed peoples and the freedom of the faith in Hungary," he exhorted them.

Folksingers Slated For Area Peace Rally

WOODSTOCK college concert circuit. They've performed at most major colleges and universities in the United States.

The Sept. 3 rally will also feature Edith Segal, a poet, songwriter and dancer. She is the author of two books of poetry for children, and a volume of poetry for adults entitled, "Take My Hand: Songs and Poems for Lovers and Rebels."

Her books of poetry have been recommended by Dr. Benjamin Spock, Langston Hughes, Sean O'Casey, Norman Thomas and Rockwell Kent. Her poems have been presented on radio and television throughout the United States, as well as in translation in France, Ecuador, Chile, Germany, Japan, Italy and the Soviet Union.

Other guests who will participate in the rally include balladeers Cathy Culver and Tom Buckner and poet George Montgomery. Rev. Edward C. Morton of the Franklin Street (Kingston) AME Zion Church will speak, and the church choir will perform several selections.

Stanley Faulkner, a civil rights attorney who represented the Attica Prison inmates, will also participate in the rally. One of Faulkner's best known cases took place in Fort Hood, Texas during the early stages of the "Hell no, I won't go" movement in the U.S.

Shawn O'Brien, a former producer of television documentaries and a member of Woodstock's Committee on the Preservation of the Environment, will speak on the effects of defoliation in Vietnam.

Local participants will include Larry Kithcart, a Democratic Legislator from Kingston and Everett Hodge, president of the Kingston chapter of the NAACP.

The rally will take place from 2-4 p.m. on Sept. 3. There will be no admission charge, although funds will be solicited to help impoverished and homeless families in Southeast Asia.

The Patons will present a mixed bag of folksongs dealing with peace and freedom themes. They have spent nearly a lifetime traveling throughout the world in search of folksongs and ballads that depict the lifestyles of countless workers, sailors, farmers, immigrants, cowboys and wanderers.

Residents of Sharon, Conn., the Patons formed a record company (Folk Legacy Records, Inc.) in 1961 that has issued 40 albums of folk music and tales. Many are used in college folklore classes.

Although they spend much of their time in search of long forgotten folksongs, the Patons also found time to captivate the

Parochial School Tax Credits

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has made a strong pitch for Catholic votes this fall by supporting tax credits for parents of parochial school children.

But inside the Administration's economic councils, the idea has consistently gotten a frosty reception from the President's top tax experts.

In a series of confidential memoranda, the Treasury

Department's tax men have made it clear they think such credits would complicate the tax code, be difficult to police and hard to keep under control once established.

Their warnings, however, have gone unheeded by President Nixon, who is apparently paying more attention these days to his political advisors than his economic experts.

One of the strongest memos appeared on the desk of presidential counselor John Ehrlichman as early as August 12, 1969. In it, Deputy Assistant Treasurer John Nolan, an expert on tax policy, said flatly such credits were inadvisable.

The opposition to the idea has continued ever since, although the Treasury experts have been more discreet about it since Nixon has made it plain he thought the idea would pay big political dividends.

On November 27, 1970, for example, then Assistant Treasury Secretary for Tax Policy Edwin Cohen sent another memo to the White House. Cohen discussed both the pros and cons of tax credits, but strongly hinted the didn't like the idea.

Virtually the same message was repeated in yet another Cohen memo, this one dated June 14, 1971, and addressed to the President's protector of special interests, Peter Flanagan.

Cohen expertly couched his opinions in carefully worded phrases, but his attitude was clearly negative. He pointedly reviewed the sizable opposition to tax credit plans and specifically referred to the 1969 Nolan memorandum which recommended against such schemes.

"In general," Cohen wrote, "there are a number of reasons why those concerned with income tax policy and administration are inclined to approach with reluctance the granting of an allowance through the income tax structure of deductions or credits for personal expenditures unrelated to the earning of income."

Since Cohen was the Administration expert most "concerned with income tax policy," he was apparently speaking for himself.

My associate Joseph Spear reached Cohen, who has recently been promoted to undersecretary, at his vacation retreat in Denmark. Me. He insisted that he had taken no personal position on the tax credits issue. He said he was merely summarizing the "pros and cons" in his memo to Flanagan, who was, at the time, "the White House liaison man with Treasury."

Trade for Peace

President Nixon is counting upon a trade boom to help keep the peace between the two superpowers.

He foresees a commercial relationship between the Soviet Union and the United States that will end the cold war indefinitely. His optimism is based upon the reports of U.S. officials who have been talking trade in Moscow.

They have told the President that the Soviets not only are eager to do business with the United States, but can't understand why the United States has treated Russia commercially as a small power.

These officials predict that Soviet-American trade will start slowly, grow gradually and then suddenly boom. Shipments of grain to Russia alone, they say, will surpass the one-billion-dollar mark.

In return, Russia has developed a huge supply of pressurized gas which the United States will need for energy. Arrangements are now being negotiated for the United States to help finance a multibillion-dollar Soviet pipeline that will deliver the gas to American tankers.

Washington Whirl

NIXON AND EAGLETON — President Nixon has told intimates that, in his view, George McGovern made a mistake in dropping Tom Eagleton from the ticket. Throughout the Eagleton affair, Nixon privately sympathized with the deposed nominee. Perhaps the President remembered how he, as the Republican vice presidential candidate, had come under fire in 1962. He had been the beneficiary of a fund, underwritten by California businessmen, to help pay his senatorial expenses. Although Nixon denied the fund was tainted, GOP leaders urged that he resign from the ticket. Nixon, fighting to stay on the ticket, responded with a televised soap opera. He won; Eagleton, 20 years later, lost. The President, apparently remembering, identified with Eagleton.

NIXON'S INSTINCTS — It's no secret that George McGovern is trying to draw President Nixon into a wide-open, slam-bang campaign. The President has assured his campaign aides that he will avoid the boobytraps the McGovernites are setting for him. The aides are worried, however, that McGovern will arouse the President's natural combative instinct. "I do not believe in being passive under attack," Nixon has said. "You must fight back in life, especially in politics."

Freeman Editorials

Post Election Economy

The nation's economy will be a big issue in the presidential campaign, predicts Paul A. Samuelson, Nobel prize economist of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and 1973 will be a good year.

Samuelson told The Boston Herald Traveler and Sunday Advertiser that President Nixon's economic plan has worked, but wage and price controls must continue.

The head of the economics department at MIT forecast that federal taxes will be increased no matter who is elected in November. He insists that tax increases cannot be avoided but there is reason to believe that the recovery will keep going right up to the end of 1973.

Any tax increase will bring up sharp discussion of tax reform. That will make tax loopholes another major issue in the campaign, especially tax shelters which have been widely publicized these past years.

"The working man doesn't like to see the rich getting tax shelters," Samuelson said. "Such things as trusts, citrus groves, beef cattle and investment credit, as ways to reduce taxes, irk the working man."

Of course, tax shelters have been set up and attacked through the last several administrations. Neither major party is free of blame or credit for them, while both defend them as means of creating production and employment.

As for inflation, Samuelson said the problem is much better than it was two years ago, but there are difficulties yet, especially with food prices. We will hear more about food prices, because there are so many more consumers than producers; and the story has not been widely accepted that farmers are still catching up on produce prices, which were depressed for so long. Once they are in balance, the Cost of Living Council will be free to crack down on them, as it has on manufacturers.

Both the current state and outlook of the economy pass muster with one of the nation's leading economists.

Guns for Ballots

The Black Panthers have learned that violence does not pay. Across the country, cities report that the Panthers are exchanging the gun for the ballot as the more potent weapon of revolution.

"The gun itself is not necessarily revolutionary," is the decision of Huey P. Newton, the party's supreme commander. He conceded that the Panthers had "defected" from the black people by becoming too militant. They want to get back in step with the mass of their people.

The first results of the new political activity have appeared in the San Francisco Bay area. There, two persons, who were on trial for their lives 16 months ago in New Haven and were freed, are now immersed in politics. Erika Huggins is an elected member of the Berkeley Community Development Council. Bobby G. Seale is a candidate for mayor of Oakland.

Seale said, "It's about time we started getting things together again. Running for local office and conducting voter registration drives are part of our new program of going into politics at the grass roots level."

Charles R. Garry, attorney for the Panthers, believes that by participating in the system, they will pose much more of a threat than when they were carrying guns. He expects that they will win many more friends, become more acceptable and attract more members.

Not all Panthers are so persuaded. Those who are not willing to shed their paramilitary image are sullen about the change. Some are even violent. What gunplay there remains is between these non-believers and the rejuvenated clan.

Another group that is still to be persuaded is the police. Violent confrontations between the police and Panthers have decreased but the Panthers say they are still subject to harassment. The police are distrustful of the change.

As a matter of fact, the change was thrust on the Panthers. They had nearly faced extinction as a force in America. The change has resurrected them. How they conduct themselves as part of the system will determine their future.

A 'Heritage' Folk Tale

MIAMI BEACH — After "Monday Night at the Movies," after "Tuesday Night at the Movies," and after a "Clockwork Orange" week of computerized joy, how healthy really is the Republican party?

Efforts made to broaden the party's base crumbled, partly because of old internecine struggles and partly because the G.O.P. hierarchy sees its future in new areas of voter strength.

They call them "heritage groups," the official party euphemism for people who might really want to wear "Irish for Nixon" or "Ukrainian for Nixon" buttons. The words "ethnic groups" and "nationalities" must seem offensive to somebody, so party word-smiths have chosen an even more condescending phrase.

"Heritage group" — it sounds like WASP furniture. The convention rejected any notion of establishing quotas for women, blacks, young people and heritage groups. They also rejected the idea of strengthening the party by awarding bonus delegates to states that help elect Republican governors, senators and congressmen. In short, the party became more conservative and more Southern.

The defeat of the rule change proposed by the big urban states was expected because the Republican Party has been dominated by northern conservatives and converted Dixiecrats since 1964. Last week's show could well have been called Barry Goldwater's revenge, a saga of moderates and liberals humbled into muttering compliance.

The most revealing quote of the week came from F. Clifton White, engineer of the Goldwater triumph in 1964. Asked how many votes liberals would receive in trying to change the rules, White said, "Oh, about 400 or 500. That's what they usually get." The vote was 910-434.

The party's theme will continue to stress the restoration of the late Confederacy. That note was emphasized in the courteous White House attention paid to Tom Stagg of Louisiana and Clarke Reed of Mississippi, both of whom fought rules changes.

These two Southern states were rewarded last week not for the efforts of the Republican Party structures there, since they do not run statewide candidates. They weren't even rewarded for their work on behalf of Richard Nixon in 1968. They were repaid for their votes for Barry Goldwater eight years ago.

In 1964 Goldwater received 509,000 Louisiana votes and carried the state. In 1968 Nixon received 258,000 votes and finished third. Mississippi gave 357,000 votes to Goldwater and carried the state for the Republicans. In 1968 Nixon got 89,000 votes and finished third.

During the rules committee hearings Chairman William Cramer of Florida actually giggled and chortled when he ruled against the protests of liberal Senators Charles Percy, Bob Packwood and Charles Mathias. Cramer was kind to his fellow Southerners.

During the floor vote on the rules, the most derisive roar of the afternoon arose when Illinois cast 50 votes for the status quo and only eight for Percy's position. Good luck in '76, Chuck.

In 1976, it seems clear, the Republican convention will be a showdown between a conservative candidate and a very conservative candidate.

A party that deliberately took steps to narrow its appeal seems on the verge of a landslide. A party that has become further sectionalized and ideologized is supposed to be in robust health.

It all sounds like a folk tale of some heritage group.

Watching a Dream Come True

One — just one — of my dreams has come true. I will settle for this one. It reposes in a neat, energetic town called Olean — pronounced O-Lee-Ann, New York. There along the edge of a throbbing vein of a river the Franciscans administer a conglomerate in education called Saint Bonaventure University.

The dreams goes back a long time. When I was a copy boy on New York newspapers, there was a slick black-haired man with a growl of a voice who was addicted to dark blue shirts and snow white ties. He was the Broadway columnist, a man named Mark Hellinger.

Mr. H. was calloused sentimentalist, one who preached never give a sucker an even break, but who had two dollars folded to the size of an airmail stamp to press into the palm of every out-of-work actor. He specialized in sob stories about beautiful chorus girls who flew too close to the sinful flame and were burned.

Hellinger also had time to teach the fundamentals of good newspaper writing to kids who pressed him. Jimmy Cannon was one. I was one. There were others. Some stayed with it. Some dropped out.

He was a tireless teacher and we wrote tirelessly and endlessly. "Whatever you have tried to say, Jim, you haven't said it. MH." That was a typical comment. In time, the columnist became the symbol of what the rest of us demanded of life.

He earned $1,000 a week; he was married to the most beautiful woman in the world, Gladys Glad; he drank brandy, a fifth a day; he invented beautiful stories; he drove a lavender bathtub called a Kissel. In time, he became a Hollywood producer — "The Naked City"; "The Killers" — and lived in a mansion with nine servants and an electric gate.

Then he died. Just like that. He was old, burned out, at 44. It was Christmas week 1947, and I made a vow that I would try to keep him from being forgotten. But how? The vow became the dream, but people forgot. He went into a mausoleum at Tarrytown, New York, a stone filling cabinet under the letter H.

Gladys Glad was as hard-boiled as her husband, but she too had a soft spot. She married again, but she missed that man who looked upon the world through the deep amber of brandy. Glad asked me to write Mark's biography. She had all the files; I had the nerve.

It was published by Appleton Century Crofts, and was called "The Mark Hellinger Story." I thought it was the best piece of writing I had done, but nobody bought it. The first copy was placed in his tomb in the mausoleum with the inscription: "Dear Mark: Take this off what I owe you," but it was a mockery. Nobody cared.

The I met Dr. Russell J. Jandoli, a dark mischievous head with sly eyes. He was dean of the Department of Journalism at St. Bonaventure University. We talked about journalism prizes, from Pulitzer down. Then we chatted with a couple of Franciscan priests.

Out of it emerged a thing called The Mark Hellinger Award. It's an annual event. The notion was to give $500 and a job to one of the top five journalism students at St. Bonaventure — the one who most needed to work.

We recruited good names from the media to serve on the Mark Hellinger Committee. If the winner wanted to work on newspapers, we had William R. Hearst, Jr., John S. Knight, Bob Considine, Hal Boyle, Boyd Fitzpatrick and Eddie Mahar.

If the lucky student chose television, among our committee members were John Charles Daly, Douglas Edwards; in public relations we had (and have) Hank Meyer, Ben Barkin, J. S. Seidman, Pierre Salinger. In sports, Red Smith, Don Dunphy.

Each had to pay $100 a year to work on the committee. We even had an undertaker in case the winner dropped dead from surprise: Vincent Letro, the smiler.

The winners turned out well. 1962, Salvatore DeVivo, now publisher of "The Saratogian," 1963, Charles MacRoy, now Assistant to the President at Beaver College; Anthony Cardinale, reporter, "Buffalo Evening News"; Joan Roeben, editor, Boys Clubs of America magazine; Jane McGuire, reporter, "The Record," Hackensack, N.J.; Michael Zavadi, reporter, "Rochester Times Union."

But you get the idea. The kids who never heard of Hellinger get a kind handout from him. And I watch a dream come true...

Nadine Harrell Weds Ronald P. Lindsay

Nadine Elizabeth Harrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Harrell of 27 Furnace Street, Kingston, became the bride of Ronald Philip Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lindsay, 251 East Strand, Kingston, Saturday, Aug. 12 at St. Clara's Church of God-in-Christ, 150 Murray Street, Kingston.

The Rev. James Childs officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Jeanette Washington, organist, accompanied Mrs. Paula Hatcher who sang traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a silk organza gown styled with a scooped neckline, a lace bodice and an attached lace train. A headpiece trimmed with seed pearls held her lace mantilla and she carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and marguerites.

Johnnie Lee Ganes, step-sister of the bride, and Mrs. Geraldine Washington, both of Kingston, served as maid and matron of honor, respectively. Attendants were Roslein Henderson; Zelma Lindsay, sister of the bridegroom; Shirley Thomasson; Octavia Howell; Janine Falon; Michelle Costa; Diane Washington; Pamela Harrell and Loretta Walker, cousins of the bride. Tracy Watkins, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Flower girl was

Laurel Harrell, sister of the bride selected a color scheme of aqua-blue, apricot, lavender and pink. The chiffon gowns were styled in the empire line. Multi-colored Venise lace edged the cuffs of the full Bishop sleeves, necklines and bodices. They carried nosegays of daisies.

Thomas Childs of Kingston, step-brother of the bridegroom, and Tony Lindsay, brother of the bridegroom, both of Kingston were honor attendants. Ushering were Bert Henderson, Robert Washington, Bill Hoptin, Danny Heppner, Lester Hatcher, Robert Hatcher, Larry Unthank, Lenny Mills, Jimmy Fitzgerald. Junior Usher was Rodney Harrell, brother of the bride, and Eric Harrell, another brother of the bride, served as ringbearer.

A reception for more than 300 guests was given at YMCA of Kingston.

The bride a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed at Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Her husband, an alumnus of KHS, served in the U.S. Army for two years including a tour of duty in Germany and earned the rank of Specialist 4th class. He is a graduate of Ulster County Community College and is employed by Herman G. Rafalowsky, Inc., clothier, Kingston.

When they return from their wedding trip to Westchester, Pa. and Montreal, Canada, they will reside in Kingston.

MRS. JOHN C. BURKE
(Kathleen I. Killough)

Killough - Burke Wedding Told

Announcement was made today of the wedding of Kathleen Ingrid Lee Killough to John C. Burke. The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. James S. Killough of Dallas, Tex. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Burke of Saugerties.

The Rev. William B. Entzinger officiated at the ceremony at Cliff Temple Baptist Church, Dallas, Tex. Mrs. Garwood Rogers, organist, accompanied Mrs. Jay Price who sang traditional wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. Buddy Lohden of Dallas, Tex. served as matron of honor. Attendants were Carolyn Harris, Kay Killough, Debbie Newberry.

The bride selected a candlelight gown fashioned with a lace-trimmed bodice and featuring a train attached at the waist. A Juliet cap accented with lace and pearls held her veil and she carried a bouquet of blue and white flowers.

The attendants wore blue gowns accented with white flowers and carried baskets of blue and white flowers.

Best man was Tom Connick of South Bend, Ind. Ushering were Larry Rittmiller, Michael Killough, Jim Killough and David Killough. A reception was given at the church hall.

The bride attended North Texas State University and was graduated from Elkins School of Photography.

Her husband is an alumnus of Siena College and Elkins School of Photography.

When they return from their wedding trip from Dallas to Saugerties and South Bend, Ind., they will reside in Dallas.

Brudniak - Reid Nuptials Announced

Immaculate Conception Church, Kingston, was the setting for the wedding of Virginia Rose Brudniak of Kingston and William R. Reid of Kingston. The Rev. John Jankowski officiated at the double ring ceremony on Saturday, Aug. 12.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brudniak, 51 Kingston Terrace, Kingston. Her husband, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reid of Kingston.

Thomas Berardi provided traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of dotted swiss organza fashioned with an empire bodice and long, fitted sleeves accented with peau d'ange lace. Matching lace bordered the A-line skirt which swept back into a sheer, cathedral length train. Her Camelot-styled headpiece was covered with matching dotted swiss, highlighted with seed pearls and lace, and held her triple tiered silk illusion chapel length veil. She carried a glabella bouquet.

Joanne Brudniak of Kingston was maid of honor for her sister, Elizabeth Brudniak, another sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in rainbow colors of nectar and maize dotted swiss fashioned with V-necklines and short puffed sleeves. White Venise lace accented the necklines, sleeves and A-line skirts. They wore satin ribbon headpieces to match their gowns and carried nosegays of daisy chrysanthemums, pompons and baby's breath.

Robert Reid of Schenectady was best man for his brother, Karl Legregni of Kingston was an usher.

A reception for 70 guests was given at Holiday Inn.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School and Ulster County Community College, is employed by the City of Kingston Laboratory as a medical lab technician.

Her husband, a 1968 graduate of KHS, is serving in the U.S. Navy and will attend Purdue University.

When they return from their wedding trip through the mid-western states, they will reside at Apartment 314, 1310 Palmer Drive, West Lafayette, Ind.

Annual Concert Scheduled Wednesday

Percy Gazlay will conduct the Onteora Summer Chorus on Wednesday evening, Aug. 30, when that well known choral group presents its annual concert at the J. Watson Bailey School. The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Minister of Music at the Fair Street Reformed Church, he has been honored more than once for bringing fine music to the community. Conductor of the Ulster County Choral Society, he undertook the coordination of the elaborate productions of "Elijah" and "Sampson" locally with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra. He was presented with the Page One Award for Music from the Kingston Newspaper Guild in 1971.

Barbara Sparks will accompany the choral group. A native of Plainfield, N.J., she is a graduate of the Crane School of Music, State University of New York at Potsdam, where she majored in piano.

Now a resident of Woodstock, she has had a varied background in music: singer, organist, accompanist, and recitalist. A member of the choir of the Fair Street Reformed Church, she has sung with the Ulster County Choral Society, the Onteora Summer Chorus, the local quartet, Coach and Four, as well as a group called the Melodaires.

Mrs. Sparks has served as organist of the Church of the Comforter and Trinity Methodist Church. In addition, she has accompanied many well known local soloists. She has served as accompanist of the summer touring group of the Yankee Male Chorus, the Ulster County Choral Society, the Catskill Glee Club, the Onteora Summer Chorus, and has appeared as accompanist for the Coach House productions "South Pacific" and "Guys and Dolls".

Last year, she and Gloria Jean Clark presented a piano-organ recital at the Fair Street Church.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained from any member of the chorus or at the door.

SUMMER CONCERT — The Onteora Summer Chorus will perform Wednesday, Aug. 30 at 8:15 p. m. in the J. Watson Bailey School. Taking the director's podium will be Percy Gazlay, pictured here reviewing some of the music with accompanist Mrs. Barbara Sparks. A varied program has been prepared for the choral performance and appearing as guest soloist will be June Pauker, soprano, of Kingston. The public is invited to attend. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Distaff Digest

AFS Meeting

Red Hook Chapter, American Field Service, will meet Thursday, Aug. 31 at Red Hook Central High School faculty room at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riffenburgh of Spring Lake Road will introduce Marie Therese Martinez, this year's AFS ambassador from France who will live with the Riffenburghs and attend Red Hook High School this year.

All interested parties are invited.

Youth Club

YWCA of Kingston has started a club for five to seven year olds. Games, parties, picnics, trips, arts and crafts, sports and all around fun are planned. Meeting will be held on Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon.

Advisors are Pam Nichols and Lisa Castle.

Card Party

Plans for the sixth annual card party were made at a recent meeting of the trustees of the Town of Ulster Library. The fund-raising event is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 18 at Ulster Hose Firehouse at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Martha Scanlon, chairman, named the following committee: Mrs. Isabel Nace, refreshments; Mrs. Bette Maxon, seating; Mrs. Ira Burgher and Mrs. Myrtle Woodvine, tickets. Both pinocle and bridge will be played.

Mrs. Scanlon is also in charge of awards and requests that anyone interested in donating a gift to contact her or leave the item at the library. A request for cupcakes was also made by Isabel Nace. An afghan made by Mrs. Nace will be awarded.

Tickets are available at the library or from the trustees.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Mary Hershoff, librarian, is a patient at Kingston Hospital.

Smorgasbord Planned

St. Gregory's Episcopal Church in Woodstock will hold an International Smorgasbord Saturday, Sept. 9 from 5 to 7 p.m. Many exotic dishes from all over the world will be served.

Parishioners have been hard at work preparing for this event. Area students will wear costumes to fit the occasion. Tickets are available from any church member and at the door.

Tiny Tips

Cycle Style

Bicycling as a favorite pastime has inspired special outfits for cyclists. Halter tops allow plenty of movement and look so cool with shorts. Special bike motifs or emblems leave little doubt about your favorite sport. Either shorts or shorts that look like shirts, scooter culottes are available with bike designs.

Summer Dress

Long, washable dresses are perfect for a carefree summer. For at home or at the seashore, these dresses can be dressed up or played down.

Softer Color

Make-up is leaving the brassy, shocking colors to the last of the vamps. But most women will welcome the return of the soft, lush shades for lips, nails and eyes.

Readers Speak About 'Lecture'

DEAR ABBY: How could you? Generally your judgement is pretty good, but your column quoting Judge Sepe was a disaster!

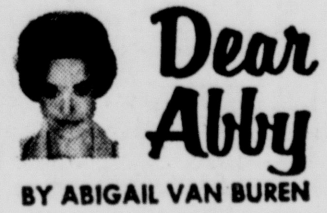

The Judge, well-intentioned, but misguided, typifies the cause of youth's alienation when he characterized your people's grievances as "garbage." He reveals himself as narrow-minded, petty, ignorant, and vindictive. The self-righteous sermon perpetrated on a helpless 17-year-old prisoner demonstrates Judge Sepe's power, and also his inhumanity.

DISGUSTEDLY,
H.R. (Retired from work but not from life)

DEAR ABBY: Re Judge Alfonso Sepe's sentencing of a 17-year-old for one year for possession of drugs: It appears to me that you have made a grievous error in praising the sheer idiocy of such a sentence.

Can you imagine what it would be like for a 17-year-old to be dumped into a jail with a group of hardened criminals? It seems to me that Sepe is the criminal in this case — he obviously has no sense of justice. Also, his verbose sermon on "your lousy, rotten drugs" sounds like the retort of a man who pours a quart of bad corn whisky over his ulcer every day, and then lectures his kids that there's no better way to relax. Sonorous Sepe also probably suffers from delusions of grandeur — judges, contrary to popular opinion, do not receive their verdicts from God.

By selecting the Sepe tirade for print, I believe that you

Dear Abby
BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

have shown an inclination toward pandering the judge's self-righteous authoritarianism. That is a perverse direction, but I suppose most of your readers — those bourgeois backfence voyeurs — enjoy having someone prop up their prejudices in print. I despise your cheap, vulgar toadying to the unjust sentencing of the young man in question. Your "advice" is about as controversial as apple pie, as stereotyped as the flag, and as novel as motherhood.

ADIOS,
TIMOTHY IN TULSA

DEAR ABBY: About the lecture Judge Sepe gave the 17-year-old kid in court: Some of what he said may have been true, but he's only making the kid feel more guilty, and more anti-establishment, and what will that accomplish in the long run?

This reminds me of the girl who tells her mother she is pregnant and the mother retorts, "How could you do that to ME?"

The judge tells the kid, "I don't know you from Adam."

Well, he doesn't know the kid's parents from Adam, either. What kind of background did the boy have? His early influences must have played some part in his going on drugs.

Talk to most kids who have done drugs, and they will tell you their parents were there, but they really weren't "there" at all. Sure, the parents "loved" them, and they gave them everything money could buy. But what their children wanted and needed most — they didn't give them. Time and attention, and a willingness to listen and understand.

If that judge had assigned the boy to a year of work in a medical rehabilitation center where he could have seen how drugs destroy mind and body, he would have done a lot more for him than locking him up with hardened criminals and forcing him to stare at four walls to brood over society's injustices to him.

LPNs to Have Booth at Fair

For the first time in the history of the New York State Fair, Licensed Practical Nurses of New York Inc., will have its own booth. This year visitors to the Fair will have an opportunity to meet Licensed Practical Nurses and find out about various aspects of nursing and the vital role L.P.N.s play on the health care team.

As a special attraction, Mrs. Lillian E. Kuster, the President Emerita and founder of Licensed Practical Nurses of N.Y., Inc. back in 1942, will be on hand the entire seven days of the fair, from August 29 through September 4. Mrs. Kuster, who also founded the National Federation of Licensed Practical Nurses, will be available to answer questions and explain how L.P.N.s achieved the professional status they enjoy today.

The Executive Director of Licensed Practical Nurses of N.Y. Inc., Mrs. Marcella O'Connell, in a statement, said that her association was most anxious to acquire the booth at the fair as increased public exposure would certainly promote careers in nursing. She pointed out that one of the primary goals of Licensed Practical Nurses of N.Y., Inc. was to alleviate the critical nursing shortage in the State. The 32 year old association, which represents the 50,000 L.P.N.s in New York also sponsors education courses for nurses, lobbies for better health care legislation and strives to improve the economic security of L.P.N.s through collective bargaining. Syracuse, New York, the site of the state fair will again host L.P.N.s at their 33rd Annual Convention in May of 1973.

Unit Session Planned

ELLENVILLE

There will be a special information session on the structure of governmental units to be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 29, at the United Methodist Church, Canal Street, Ellenville.

The session will be conducted by Joseph Rautenstrauch, field coordinator, of the New York State Office of Local Government.

Rautenstrauch, formerly with the New York State Office of Economic Opportunity, will give an overview of the structure, responsibilities, and powers of various governmental units such as counties, towns, villages, and will conduct a discussion on the various ways in which these units serve the public and provide for the participation of citizens in local government.

The session is one of a series sponsored by the Ulster County Community Action Committee aimed at increasing the participation of the persons served by the community action agency in the affairs of the agency and in the process of local government.

Preceding the meeting with Rautenstrauch Tuesday evening, at 7 p.m. members of the local advisory board and interested citizens may attend a discussion on local priorities with Mrs. Jenny Krevolin of the UCCAC, Inc.

Open Exam Slated

KINGSTON

An open competitive examination for a custodian and custodian bus driver for various Ulster County school districts has been announced by the Civil Service Commission. At present five vacancies exist in various schools outside the Kingston Consolidated School system.

Applications may be secured from the commission, UPO Box 172, County Office Building, Kingston.

A written test will be given to test for knowledge and skills in such areas as knowing how to clean a building and knowledge of building operation and simple building maintenance.

To be eligible to qualify for appointment as custodian bus driver, a candidate must possess a class-two chauffeur's license issued by New York State.

Minimum qualifications include 12 months experience in building, cleaning and maintenance work or 12 months experience as a carpenter, plumber, electrician, painter, mechanic, team fireman or other related maintenance work or any satisfactory equivalent combination of experience.

The last date for filing application is Oct. 4 and the exam date is Nov. 4.

Candidates Meeting Scheduled

PLEASANT VALLEY

It was announced today that the Dutchess County Taxpayers Association will hold a special candidates night meeting for interested persons to hear and talk with the candidates for New York State Assembly in the new District 100 covering the southern part of Dutchess County.

The meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 31 at the Van Wyck Hall Main Street Fishkill, will be open to the public.

The three candidates vying for this office are Benjamin P. Oosa — Republican, Louis Diehl — Democrat, and Donald Yellen on the Conservative line. These men have all served in various capacities in their respective political parties.

Following statements by each of the candidates presenting their views about the office and their positions on the issues, the public will have a chance to ask questions.

A spokesman for the taxpayers group said that this meeting will be devoted to the 100th Assembly District race only, and, therefore, those present will have adequate opportunity to judge the candidates. He urged voters in the new district attend this meeting to hear and see those seeking this new Assembly District seat. The 100th District covers the cities of Beacon and ½ of Newburgh, plus 14 towns in southern Dutchess.

Spitz First Hope for Gold Medal

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.,
AP General Sports Editor

MUNICH (AP) — The United States can win its first two gold medals of the 20th Olympic Summer Games tonight—if Mark Spitz churns up the pool at his customary speed—and it has a solid chance for at least a bronze in women's diving.

Meanwhile, there was good news for pole vaulter Bob Seagren. The International Amateur Athletic Federation reversed itself and said he can use the pole with which he set his world record. Seagren took the news calmly.

The men's 200-meter butterfly and 400-meter freestyle relay are the premier events of today's program, along with springboard diving and 200-meter individual medley.

Spitz, the bronzed and mustais constantly being reminded. Micki King, an Air Force captain from Pontiac, Mich., stands in third place in the springboard diving with 289.14 points. She trails two Swedish blondes, Ulrika Knappe, with 292.59 points, and Agneta Henriksson, with 290.79.

The strongest U.S. hope in the women's 200 individual medley was Lynn Vidali of San Francisco.

In another prime final today, the U.S. women's gymnasts ap-

The Soviet Union was in first place.

The first gold medal winners of the Games were Ragnar Skanaker, a 38-year-old Swede who won the free pistol shoot with a record 567 of a possible 600 points, and Poland's Zygmunt Smalcerz, world flyweight weightlifting champ, who hoisted 744.05 pounds.

The IAAF banned Seagren's slender, green pole for Olympic use earlier this summer, saying it had not been available to athletes elsewhere in the world at least one year before the Games.

But George Moore, maker of the poles, appeared before the IAAF Sunday and argued: "Every world-class athlete who could possibly have come to the Games had access to them late last year."

The IAAF decided he was right.

Told of the decision Seagren said: "Naturally, I'm pleased. I guess it'll give me a psychological advantage because I set the world record on it. I don't think it makes that much of a difference. But I'm happy they agreed we weren't trying to use anything illegal."

U.S. athletes had an unexpected success Sunday when the first American soccer team ever to make it to the Olympics held Morocco, which has six players with World Cup experience, to a scoreless tie in opening play.

The U.S. basketball team did what it was expected to do, crushing Czechoslovakia 66-35, thus moving on to Australia today. It was the 56th straight victory in Olympic Games for Americans, who have never been defeated.

The strong American eight-oar crew, with six Harvard graduates among them, whipped West Germany's crew, winner of the gold medal in 1968, by a length and qualified for the semifinals. Shells from New Zealand and Russia won the other two preliminary heats.

In addition, the American pairs with coxswain made it to the semifinals by pulling in three lengths ahead of Poland. The other U.S. crews—four with cox, pairs with cox, fours without cox, single and double sculls—could still qualify for the finals by winning in the repechage, or second chance, heats.

Featherweight Louis Self of Toledo, Ohio, won his first boxing match, taking a unanimous decision. In wrestling, Dan Gable of Waterloo, Iowa, 149.5 pounds; Rich Sanders of Lake View, Ore., 125.5, and Gene Davis of Missoula, Mont., 136.5, all pinned their opponents.

But 400-pound Chris Taylor of Dowagiac, Mich., met his match in Alexander Medved, the Soviet Union's 290-pound world champion who won on points. Under the Olympic round-robin system, Taylor could still pick up a medal.

Banish Ref After Taylor Upset

MUNICH (UPI) — Sweden and Poland grabbed the first two gold medals, the United States basketball team rolled to its 56th consecutive victory and two-time Olympic gold medalist wrestler Alexander Medved of Russia beat America's Chris Taylor in a controversial match Sunday to feature the opening program of the 20th Games.

The long day began with Ragnar Skanaker of Sweden winning the free pistol gold medal with a Games record 567 points and ended with Medved beating Taylor in a match that provoked an American protest and led to the dismissal of the Turkish referee.

In between, the United States won its opening water polo match, advanced two boats to the rowing semi-finals, played a scoreless tie in its first-ever Olympic soccer match, won its only boxing match of the day and six others in wrestling.

Taylor's loss to Medved, an Olympic gold medal winner in 1964 and 1968 and a seven-time world champion, coming as it did in the evening, almost made everyone forget what had transpired before the Games started a two-week run in the beautiful Bavarian capital.

"It's the first time I've ever seen a referee thrown out for this type of thing," said American wrestling coach William Farrell. "There is nothing we can do about it. It is just a matter of interpretation and we can't change it at this point or they would have the whole country of Russia to fight about it."

The action against the referee Umit Demirag was taken by the International Boxing Association (IBA), which also controls officials of international wrestling matches.

Taylor, a two-time NCAA champion at Iowa State, twice was cautioned by the referee while Medved, who carried the Russian flag in Saturday's opening ceremonies, wasn't cautioned even once.

Taylor, a hulking 400-pounder, took the match to Medved and the crowd was as disappointed as Farrell when the referee handed in his decision. Despite the loss, Taylor is still alive" in the Olympics because he's also scheduled to compete in Greco-Roman wrestling.

The Yank basketball team, led by Dwight Jones of the University of Houston, routed a tall Czechoslovakian team, 66-35, and remained a solid favorite to win its eighth consecutive Olympic gold medal, while the American eights and pairs without coxswain, crews won their heats and advanced to the rowing semi-finals.

The eight, coxed by Paul Hoffman of St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, won its heat in the good time of 6:06.1, pulling away from the defending champion West German boat in the last 100 meters, while the pairs crew, coxed by Aaron Hermon of Sharon, Mass., won its heat in 7:50.0.

The U.S. soccer team never was able to make a serious move toward a goal but was outstanding on defense and deserved its scoreless tie with the more experienced Moroccan squad. In many ways, it was a moral victory for the Americans.

OLYMPIC MEDALS

MUNICH (UPI) — Medal standings in the Olympic Games at the conclusion of Sunday's events:

Team	G	S	B	T

Poland	1	0	0	1
Romania	0	1	0	1
Austria	0	0	1	1
Others	0	0	1	1

GOING FOR TWO — U.S.A. player Doug Collins of Benton, Ill., shoots for the rim as Czechoslovakia's Zdenek Kos leaps to defend in the Olympic basketball game Sunday at Munich, Germany. USA won 66-35. (UPI)

Court Upsets Billie Jean

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Margaret Smith Court of Australia continued her successful comeback Sunday with a 6-4, 6-1 upset of money winning leader Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., in the $18,000 Virginia Slims Grass Courts Championships at Newport Casino.

Mrs. Court, 30, just returned to tennis after having a baby, and Australian countrywoman Lesley Hunt made it a completely successful day with a 6-2, 6-2 win over Mrs. King and Rosemary Casals in the doubles final. Mrs. King, the Wimbledon champion, had been seeded first and Mrs. Court, sixth.

Mrs. Court had a relatively easy time against Mrs. King, her long-time rival, primarily because of a big serve and pinpoint placements.

Mrs. Court had only one double fault in the entire match while Mrs. King had five.

For winning the singles championship, Mrs. Court received $3,400, compared to Mrs. King's $2,200 for second place.

Despite her defeat, Mrs. King moved into the lead in money earnings for the Virginia Slims tour in 1972 with $37,645.

The primary reason for the Court-Hunt victory in doubles over perhaps the world's best feminine doubles team was Mrs. Court's serve and Miss Hunt's volleying. Mrs. Court and Miss Hunt received $500 for their doubles victory and Mrs. King and Miss Casals won $300 for finishing second.

In a playoff for third place, Chris Evert, 17, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., swept by Julie Heldman, of Houston, Tex., 6-1, 6-0.

It was the sixth consecutive sellout crowd of the tournament with estimated attendance of 2,500.

Bowlerettes Meet

SAUGERTIES The Classic Bowlerettes will hold an organizational meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 29, at 7:30 p.m., at the Bowlers Club here. Team captains and all others interested are invited to attend.

McDaniel's Encore Paid Off for Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees were sailing along with a 6-2 lead in the eighth inning of Sunday's second game against Kansas City when relief ace Sparky Lyle headed for the mound as he has done so often.

In the bullpen, Lindy McDaniel got ready to close up shop.

"I figured that was it for the day," said the veteran right-hander, "so I got up and threw real hard for 15-20 minutes. I had good rhythm Saturday, and since Monday's an off day I didn't want to go two days without throwing."

McDaniel was still throwing in the 16th inning when Horace Clarke's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded off Bruce Dal Canton gave the silver-haired reliever his first triumph since July 25, 1971, a 9-8 triumph. The Yankees also won the opener 7-6 on Johnny Callison's tie-breaking 407-foot single off the bleacher wall in right-center with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth inning.

Lyle, who won the opener by pitching one scoreless inning, didn't have it in the nightcap. He was tagged for a three-run homer by Lou Piniella, making it a 6-5 game, and knocked out for the first time all season when the Royals scored three times in the ninth on Paul Schaal's single, Bobby Knoop's double, singles by Ed Kirkpatrick and Fred Patek and a throwing error by Ron Klimkowski, who relieved Lyle.

McDaniel came on in the 10th after the Yankees battled back to tie the count on run-scoring hits by Celerino Sanchez and Thurman Munson in their half of the ninth. He worked the final seven innings, allowing only one hit—Steve Hovley's opposite-field double past third with two out in the 14th.

"I was tired when I came in," McDaniel admitted, "but I had good rhythm again. I just kept going and my velocity stayed good. Sparky's been carrying the whole load and he's done a tremendous job. I hope I can give him a little bit of help because he can't do it all himself."

The Detroit Tigers swept a doubleheader from the Minnesota Twins Sunday, 5-3 and 1-0, in a pair of 11-inning victories.

The wins moved the Tigers 1½ games ahead of the Baltimore Orioles in the tight Eastern Division race and the Tigers manager Billy Martin thought it was a good sign—especially since the Tigers also won in 11 innings on Saturday.

"These extra inning games are the kind of games you've got to win. They wind up making the difference," Martin said. "One of the real strengths of this team is that we have a lot of different guys who've come on to help us win games in the late innings. This has been an important factor on every pennant winning team I've ever been associated with."

In the other games, Baltimore lost ground with a 2-1 loss to Oakland, New York matched the Tigers by sweeping the Kansas City Royals, 7-6 and 9-8, in 16 innings. Chicago's Western Division lead over Oakland was cut to half a game by a 4-3 loss to Milwaukee. Boston downed Texas, 10-3, and California beat Cleveland, 1-0.

Meet the Modest New Leo

By United Press International

Leo Durocher earned the nickname "the lip" during his nearly half-century in baseball but the newly-named Houston manager had surprisingly little to say about the Astros' initial victory under his leadership Sunday.

Jesus Alou drove in two runs with a triple and a single in leading the Astros to their first victory under Durocher, an 8-2 triumph over the Montreal Expos.

Durocher, who was fired as manager of the Chicago Cubs earlier in the season, was named to succeed Harry Walker Saturday.

The Astros are playing the best baseball in their 11-year history but they remain eight games behind the division-leading Cincinnati Reds.

"I think Durocher will make a refreshing change," Houston general manager Spec Richardson said Saturday after announcing the managerial change. "It's not too late in the season."

Durocher, who was at the helm of the Cubs from 1966 until July 25 of this season, also piloted the New York Giants as well as the Brooklyn Dodgers during his career. But Durocher, one of the game's more colorful characters, was surprisingly quiet about Houston's victory Sunday.

"I had nothing to do with it. I was just sitting there," Durocher said. "The guys were all relaxed and happy."

Alou tripled in the second to score Doug Rader, and he singled to drive in Jimmy Wynn in a three-run third inning outburst.

In other National League games Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 7-4, Cincinnati whipped Philadelphia 7-2, New York routed Atlanta 13-6, Chicago downed San Francisco 9-3 and St. Louis beat San Diego 9-2.

Mets Love Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Yogi Berra says his New York Mets "love to hit" in Atlanta Stadium.

And hit they did Sunday—14 hits including five homers as the Mets trimmed the Atlanta Braves 13-6 to end the Braves' five-game winning streak.

"That was some hitting exhibition our guys put on but it wasn't the most home runs we have hit in one game this year," said Berra. "I think we got five in one game and that game was here in Atlanta, too."

"The boys love to hit in this park. The ball carries so well; Seaver hit a 2-run homer in the second and the Mets opened up a 9-0 lead at the end of three innings as Seaver coasted to his 16th triumph of the season. Denny McLain, 3-4, was the loser.

Snead Moves With Ease

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Norm Snead is a veteran pro quarterback who takes every thing in stride, preferring to praise others while avoiding the use of a personal pronoun.

"Our offensive team here is excellent," Snead said quietly Sunday after directing the New York Giants to a 31-10 victory over the New England Patriots before 51,470 fans at Schaefer Stadium.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices opened lower on the New York Stock Exchange Monday, continuing the trend of last week. Trading was light.

Declining issues held a narrow lead over advancing ones, and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down almost a point. In the new background, new machine tool orders for July were up 34.2 per cent from last year's levels, but down 9 per cent from June. Savings and loan associations reported record deposits in July of $2.16 billion.

Analysts, however, were still citing last week's rise in short-term interest rates as a major factor holding back the market.

Quotations by First Albany Corporation, members of New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange, 52 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y., David J. Lamb, resident manager. Phone 338-2444.

munty College budget Thursday night, one day short of the Sept. 1 deadline.

The meeting has been called for 7:30 p.m. in the County Office Building by Chairman of the Legislature Peter J. Davago (R-Dist. 8).

The board met last Thursday for the same purpose but a vote on the $3.5 million proposal was deferred pending a satisfactory conclusion to the contract negotiations between the Community College Committee and the Faculty Association.

It was the second time the proposal was tabled. Following a public hearing and meeting in July, the budget was put over the 30 days due to an impasse in budget negotiations.

The largest portion of the total budget was earmarked for instruction with $1,613,197 given as the figure in copies of a budget summary given the news media July 28 and Aug. 24 by the county's publicity office.

It is anticipated however that that figure may be higher or lower depending on the outcome of the negotiations.

Previously, question had arisen as to whether or not the college could operate after Sept. 1 without an approved budget.

General Meeting Scheduled

PINE HILL — The Central Catskill Association will hold a general meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 30 at Bellevue Village, the site of the old Grand Hotel in Pine Hill, Route 28.

Good news concerning the financing of the proposed information booth on Route 28 in Mt. Tremper has been received and the meeting will be a finalization of the plans for the building.

In addition to the members all those interested in extending the business possibilities of Central Catskills may attend and hopefully become members of the association.

Man Held In Shooting

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Rudi Herwig, 51, of the Rensselaer County community of Buskirk was being held in Albany County jail today on charges stemming from a double shooting which police said was witnessed by three detectives in a downtown parking lot.

Herwig was charged with killing Billy M. Simmons, 36, of Burlington, Vt., and wounding Joseph Teasley, 19, of Albany.

Police said the three detectives were in a patrol car when they saw the three men in the parking lot of a church. As they watched, the detective said, Herwig pointed a gun at the other two and fired twice.

The detectives quickly took Herwig into custody. They said an automatic pistol was taken from him and a .22 caliber pen gun was found in his parked car.

Herwig was arraigned Sunday in Albany Police Court on charges of murder, first degree assault and illegal gun possession and ordered jailed pending further appearance Sept. 12.

Ad Correction

A Lloyd's Auto Service Center ad which ran Sunday, Aug. 27 in the Sunday Freeman had reversed price blocks. The prices listed under the title of Lloyd's Custom SST tires actually refer to the Armstrong Surveyor tires. Those prices listed for Armstrong Surveyor tires are actually the prices for Lloyd's own SST line.

FINALLY RESCUED — Craig Keyes lay in a Seattle hospital bed Friday after spending four days alone and injured on Mt. Index. Keyes broke one leg in an accident Aug. 21 and was not found by rescuers until Thursday. He was taken off the mountain by helicopter. Keyes was described as in good shape despite his end of a rope ordeal. (UPI)

Burglaries Investigation Continues

TOWN OF ULSTER — Deputy sheriffs today continued investigation of two burglaries at homes on Southfield Street in this township. According to First Sergeant Donald Policastro, the Moss residence at 89 Southfield Street, was entered by prying a screen from a cellar window. Articles allegedly missing from the house included a self-winding watch, between $25 and $30 in silver coins and certificates, a woman's yellow gold watch and a set of cameo earrings. The total value was not noted in a report of Deputy Christopher Jones.

Whie at the scene, Jones was notified by James Mitchell of 95 Southfield Street that his home had been entered by prying a front door and removing some molding. A list of articles missing will be turned over the sheriff's office later.

Both break-ins were reported Saturday at about 3 p.m.

Two Cited By Police

KINGSTON — Two motorists were cited by Kingston police over the weekend on charges of leaving the scene of accidents.

Michael Karaffa, 68, of the Dutchess County community of Poughquag, was accused of driving away after the pickup truck he was operating was involved in a collision with a parked car on Fair Street. The parked vehicle was at the curb in front of the home of the owner, Louis J. Carpino of 81 Fair Street at the time of the accident.

Karaffa was apprehended by police at a North Front Street service station, authorities said. The other hit-and-run accident occurred Sunday afternoon on Broadway at Hoffman Street and it involved vehicles driven by David Spiess, 26, of Forest Hills, and Arthur H. Kahrs of 425 Wilbur Avenue. Spiess was cited for leaving the scene of an accident. He was picked up as he drove along Hoffman Street, police said.

Your Horoscope

Tuesday, August 29

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A beautiful day to make your work more pleasant and easy by showing others that you value and appreciate what they are doing with you and the special things they do that carry you closer to your personal or joint goals. A day that has much vitality and energy to be used.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you listen to what experts have to suggest you can do much to add to present prosperity via right channels. Your intuition is good, also, so use it. Stop being content in that little rut you are in.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you do the things that you like and can do, you find you get results quickly, instead of beating your head against the proverbial stone wall. Dress well, go out and meet people, have fun. Advance.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listen closely and follow what advisers have to suggest to get the results you want at this time. Be guided by intuition which is working accurately for you now. Make more of your life than in the past.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Gain the backing of good pals who have much character and are definite in purpose, successful. Out to the social in p.m. and add to your circle of friends. Meet the one for you if you are unmarried.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) The planets are favorable where your career is concerned, so get together with influential people and make big headway. That civic work you can do so well should be handled now with promptness. Think. Act.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have fine ideas that need only new personalities to make them workable. Bring out your finest talents. Involve yourself in whatever is of scientific or educational nature, or both.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Talk over with loved one how to make the future brighter and more prosperous, happy together. Add to present security by studying your books of record more carefully. Avoid that tendency to splurge for recreation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Work out those questionable problems with associates early and reach a fine understanding. Reconciling any differences of opinion with those who oppose you is also possible. Show you are a reasonable person.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can now pitch into all that work that is facing you and get it done with speed and efficiency. Spend some time taking health treatments you may need. Build up your energy considerably.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 21 to Jan. 20) Find the right recreation that will add to present vitality and give you freedom from worry, overwork. Show more affection for the one you love. Reach a far better understanding for the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have to give your home more time and attention now so that everything there is spic and span and harmonious as well. Handle only business matters that are important. Evening is fine for entertaining.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are feeling dynamic and can get much accomplished in the business world now. Talk over with a clever person how to handle routine matters more intelligently. Show you are definitely on the ball.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be so full of energy that it is important you give regulated exercise and sports to work it off properly while young, otherwise your offspring could get into trouble because of being bored. Anything of a detailed nature is fine for your most intelligent youngster, and he or she would do well working in laboratories, research and the like. Definitely college material here, and as parents you should spare no expense on education.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

CALIS: (Q.) Last night this boy called. I didn't recognize his voice.

He said, "Is Jake there?"

I said, "No, you have the wrong number."

He said, "Can you prove it?"

I said "Good-by" and hung up.

Two minutes later he called and said, "What's your name?"

I said "Jo." That is my name.

He said, "How old are you?"

I said "Fifteen." That is how old I am.

He said, "Are you cute?"

I said "No."

My parents were yelling at me by then so I hung up.

The phone rang three minutes later. My parents told me to let it ring. It finally stopped. It rang and stopped five more times. The seventh time my mother answered it. She told the boy that she was an operator and his calls had been traced.

The phone didn't ring any more last night.

He called again tonight. My father wouldn't let him talk to me. He and mother say if he finds out enough about me he may hurt me. I don't think so. I know some boys who call up girls just for fun. I think this one just wants to meet me. I know I want to meet him.

I would like to have a date with him. He has a real sweet voice, and was very nice on the phone. Don't you think my parents are being just a lot too protective?—Curious in Kentucky.

(A.) No, I don't. Do not tell a boy who calls you on the telephone and refuses to identify himself anything.

Ask him for his name. If he refuses to give it or answer other questions about himself hang up.

The boy who has been calling you may just be playing a harmless prank, but the odds are too great to gamble on it. If he wants to meet you or have a date with you he can tell you who he is. If he is really interested in you as a girl friend he has no reason to be so mysterious about himself.

ONE-TO-ONE—Mayor Lindsay declared Aug. 30 "One-to-One" day in New York City.

Devoted to a variety of programs, it will be an all-day festival to aid the retarded and handicapped. The mayor stressed the importance of citizen involvement in developing better ways to help retarded children. The idea is to have an equal number of volunteers for the handicapped, so that each child is with someone, which, explained Mayor Lindsay, "is the best way to help anyone in trouble."

WABC News correspondent, Gerald Rivera, co-chairman with actress Geraldine Fitzgerald, explained, "you can't mass produce care for the retarded child like you do with an automobile."

Beginning with a festival at Central Park in the morning with parades, singing, dancing and other organized activities, the One-to-One Day schedule concludes with a concert at Madison Square Garden with some of rock's top performers—John Lennon, Yoko Ono, Stevie Wonder, Roberta Flack, The Isley Brothers and Sha Na Na, along with an expected number of "surprise" guests.

The purpose: To raise not only money but consciousness.

ANOTHER NOTE—As John and Yoko sat at the press conference with Mayor Lindsay discussing plans for the benefit concert, the National Committee for John and Yoko went about the business of trying to keep the two in the States. The buttons they gave out were red, white and blue, "John and Yoko. Let Them Stay in the U.S.A."

The duo's lawyer filed another brief, this time stating that Lennon's 1968 marijuana conviction in England should not be applicable to the hearing. His first brief suggested that the two should stay in search of Yoko's daughter, Kyoko.

A decision on their deportation charges is expected sometime in September.

SON OF THE FIDDLER—The latest addition to the cast of the upcoming movie "Jesus Christ, Superstar" is the role of Herod. Joshua Mostel, Zero Mostel's son, has just been signed by Norman Jewison. Production is now underway in Israel.

GETTING THE VOTE—Frontlash, a group of young volunteers deserves credit for their efforts in getting young people to register to vote. The group has already enlisted thousands of teen-age voters to aid them. Their next project is getting the blue-collar workers to register. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Grandmotherly Intervention Helps Television Triplets

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — In the canyon hideaway behind their home, the Todd boys romp and tussle like other 8-year-olds. The sky is clear. The birds are chirping.

On television, the blond identical triplets are starring in reruns.

A bit of grandmotherly intervention helped put Michael, Daniel and Joseph Todd in show business when they were two months old. But it took no prodding for the Todds to decide to live as far from Hollywood as possible.

"The living is good here for the boys," says their mother, Lynn Todd.

Lynn and Edward Todd met while they were attending the University of Southern California. She grew up in the Hollywood Hills, with the stereotypical "movie-brat" etched in memory.

"A lot of those kids are really something," Mrs. Todd recalls. Although neither parent had given a thought to it, Mrs. Todd's mother answered a studio advertisement asking for newborn twins. The three Todd boys filled the bill even better.

The blond babies were instant hits in the "Gunsmoke" episode in which the widow of a desperado gives birth to triplets but dies in childbirth. Residents of the town reject the babies, who finally are adopted by a woman with 10 children of her own.

The "Gunsmoke" program was rerun six times and is a tradition at Christmas.

Soon the studio was sending a limousine with a chauffeur and a nursemaid for the youngsters, who were being paid $1,300 each per week. Among the TV jobs that followed were episodes in "Dragnet" and "Gomer Pyle."

Todd, who is a business services salesman for International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., moved his family to Oakland but Hollywood tracked them down to use the boys in the television series "My Three Sons." An airplane flew them regularly to a mobile home in Studio City.

"This was taking us away from home for weeks at a time," Mrs. Todd said. "It began to be a trial for us all."

In San Diego, where her husband transferred to work, Mrs. Todd says they've found the perfect escape, although the boys still are listed with the Screen Actors' Guild and pay an agent.

They look forward to weekends at the beach or in the mountains in their camper.

"We'll never, never move back," Lynn Todd says.

U.S. Fighter-Bombers Carry Out Heavy Raids

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers destroyed or damaged more than 170 buildings Sunday at military camps in the heaviest raids on the Hanoi-Haiphong area in 4½ years. The U.S. Command announced today.

The command said that Air Force and Navy jets attacked 20 different targets in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, including three army barracks, the north-east rail line to China, railroad yards, supply barges, storage and fuel depots, and anti-aircraft missile and artillery batteries.

It was the heaviest attack in the Hanoi-Haiphong area since March 1968, U.S. officials said. North Vietnam claimed five American jets were shot down and some pilots captured. The U.S. Command made no mention of any plane losses.

Among the raids Sunday was the first attack of the war on the Xom Bai army barracks 37 miles northwest of Hanoi. Pilots said their bombs destroyed 13 barracks and 10 storage and support buildings, and damaged another 46 buildings.

The Xuan Mai military training complex 17 miles southwest of Hanoi and Hai Dong Barracks West, 23 miles northwest of Haiphong also were hit.

The U.S. Command confirmed a report from Washington that a Chinese minesweeper had slipped into Haiphong harbor despite the U.S. minefield laid last May. The Command said the sweeper has been in Haiphong about a week and is tied up next to a Chinese freighter. It said it was "not aware that any mines have been swept," and the Navy said the minesweeper had not attempted any clearing operations yet.

The Command said it had planted new mines "at various locations to cover areas not previously seeded."

The Navy said that the Chinese minesweeper was the only ship that had slipped into Haiphong, and none of the 27 ships there when the harbor was mined had left.

The U.S. Command announced that an American Air Force adviser was killed in South Vietnam Saturday when his small observation plane collided with a South Vietnamese jet near Que Son. A Vietnamese pilot with the American and the two Vietnamese in the jet were also killed.

In the ground war, North Vietnamese forces fought their way back into the district headquarters compound in Que Son Sunday night, but government troops were reported still holding other sections of the town.

The South Vietnamese were reported driven out of the military compound that was the district headquarters at dusk Sunday after a series of North Vietnamese artillery and mortar attacks and ground assaults. The compound is about the size of an average city block.

The heavy shelling attacks wounded at least 40 South Vietnamese troops, and helicopters trying to evacuate them were driven back by North Vietnamese anti-aircraft guns ringing the town.

South Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen were reported trying to consolidate their positions at Que Son in an effort to hold the district capital. It fell to the North Vietnamese on Aug. 19, and the South Vietnamese recaptured it last Friday.

About 25 miles to the north, U.S. helicopter gunships apparently thwarted a rocket attack on Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city. Field reports said the helicopters attacked about 35 enemy troops carrying rockets about six miles south of the city. At least three of the North Vietnamese were reported killed.

Chinese Minesweeper Slips Into Harbor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Communist Chinese minesweeper has slipped into Haiphong harbor for the first time since the U.S. Navy sealed seven North Vietnamese ports with mines last May.

Intelligence sources suggested the action could be a forerunner to an effort to reopen North Vietnam's most important port.

Pentagon officials said the single minesweeper, which reportedly has not yet attempted any clearing operations, would have only limited effect by itself. But they are watching for reinforcements.

Officials stressed the United States intends to keep the ports closed and that fresh mines would be laid to replace any that are removed.

And they left open the possibility that U.S. air and naval units might attack to stop attempts to clear the channel into Haiphong.

U.S. warplanes struck heavily in the Haiphong area over the weekend but there was no indication the minesweeper was hit.

Intelligence specialists identified the Chinese-built craft as a Wosung class minesweeper, a 136-foot ship believed capable of clearing acoustic and possibly magnetic mines.

The minesweeper normally operates in the Shanghai area, they said.

Sources speculated the ship probably eluded U.S. observation en route by taking advantage of its shallow draft to hug the coast of China and North Vietnam.

Some Pentagon officials said the minesweeper may have been transferred by the Chinese to the North Vietnamese navy but they had no evidence of this.

They said it is likely the Chinese sent the minesweeper to Haiphong partially to embarrass their Russian rivals.

The Soviets have a powerful fleet in the Pacific, including minesweepers, but have avoided any naval moves to breach the U.S. blockade of North Vietnam.

Communist Chinese freighters, however, have been carrying supplies into North Vietnamese waters and transferring the cargo to small North Vietnamese craft. The Vietnamese craft have been successful in ferrying some of the cargo to land, despite U.S. air and naval patrols.

Bobby Fischer Nears World Title in Chess

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI) — It was the sixth straight draw in the chess match of the century—but this one was different.

World champion Boris Spassky blazed away down the center of the board and made a daring knight sacrifice on his 18th move. Three moves later his dream of victory crumbled when Bobby Fischer came up with a brilliant queen move.

"The only move that could save the game," said Yugoslav grandmaster Svetozar Gligoric. "And Bobby knew it. All of a sudden he was very relaxed. Spassky was annoyed, sipping coffee and wondering what went wrong."

In the end the Russian champion made a gesture with his right hand and offered a draw after the 40th move. The 19th game was split down the middle and Fischer had inched closer to the world title.

The 29-year-old American challenger has a 11 to 8 point lead and needs another win and a draw—or three draws—to capture the title. Spassky must at least win three and draw two of the remaining five games to retain his crown, a nearly impossible task, grandmasters agreed.

The next game is scheduled for Tuesday.

"What a game," said U.S. grandmaster Larry Evans. "How good it was to see the old Boris again, lining up his artillery. Long analysis will show whether he had a win going up to the 21st move, but according to my book Fischer missed an even greater chance by fluffing his 30th move. It was a game of riddles."

Even chief referee Lothar Schmid chimed in with praise after explaining how he cooled down Fischer early in the game.

Bobby came over to my table and complained about the noise," Schmid said. "So I said to him, 'Bobby, please be kind,' and you know, he was! He never came back."

"Perhaps it was because he enjoyed the game. I found it very interesting and exciting. In fact the second part of the championship has produced much better chess than the opening games."

Fischer, dressed in a new purple corduroy suit made during his visit to Iceland, found himself in positional trouble early in the game. However, as the play continued he worked his way back into a strong position.

If he wins the championship, Fischer becomes the second American to hold the title, Paul Morphy of New Orleans claimed the championship from 1858 to 1862 before any organized world title play was initiated.

Link Protein to Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — A Cornell University scientist says that the high-protein diet of Americans may be linked to the high incidence of cancer in the United States.

"One of the waste products of protein digestion is ammonia, a substance that is harmful to man and animals," said Dr. Willard J. Visek of the New York State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Cornell. His remarks were in a paper prepared for presentation today at the annual meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Ammonia increases virus infections, Visek said, and viruses are known to cause cancer in animals and are suspected of doing so in man. Visek said his cell-culture experiments have shown that ammonia slows the growth of normal cells more than of cancerous cells.

Ammonia destroys cells, thus increasing cell turnover and the chances of cells becoming cancerous, Visek said. He added that ammonia also changes the character of ribonucleic acid (RNA), the material in cells that regulates protein manufacture.

Body cells are exposed to ammonia every time protein is digested; and, over a lifetime, a high protein diet could bring about a constant exposure of cells to ammonia and cause serious damage, he said.

"Because ammonia fills several major criteria of a cancer-producing agent," Visek concluded, "we must carefully study the effects of using ammonia-producing food supplements. Simply because ammonia is a normal cell product is no reason to ignore its long-term effects."

California Brush Fire . . . Toll Continues to Rise

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Firefighters looked to the sky for rain today as the toll from Southern California's worst brush fire this season mounted—six dead, six injured, more than 17,000 acres burned, over $1.4 million in damage and loss.

The fire was still officially out of control, burning into its sixth day in Los Padres National Forest, but firemen were getting the upper hand.

"With a break from the weather, we could have it contained by Tuesday morning," said U.S. Forest Service spokesman Stan Bunce today.

"It depends on the winds. And maybe we'll have some rain. The forecast calls for thunder-showers in this area today and we're really hoping it will rain on the hotspots."

"It rained some Sunday night on the northern edge of the fire, but not on the hotspots where we need it," he said.

The "hot spots" were in the southeastern part of the fire area, where it blazed down Echo Falls Canyon. Winds in the area, which had gusted to more than 30 miles per hour last week, had fallen to five miles per hour or less Sunday night, allowing firemen to close in on the blaze, extending fire lines to all but four miles of the 28-mile fire perimeter.

The forest contains the remote mountain sanctuary set aside for the last of the California condors, the world's biggest bird of prey and largest land bird in North America.

Only about 60 of the giant birds with 9-foot wing-spans are believed to exist.

The fire burned about 350 acres along one edge of the sanctuary last Thursday, but swerved off before endangering the birds or their nesting sites, located about nine miles away.

A Forest Service firewatch near Bakersfield reported seeing a flight of "about 35" of the huge birds—largest such formation ever reported, and over half the known survivors of the species—winging out of the sanctuary, headed eastward.

A biologist theorized the birds were fleeing not from the fire, which they might tolerate so long as their nests escaped, but from the commotion of helicopters, airplanes, trucks and men engaged in fighting it.

Wilkes-Barre Lives!

There was a little doubt, after Tropical Storm Agnes, a couple of months ago.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., like Harrisburg, Elmira, Corning, Apalachicola and a host of other cities in a 12-state area, was devastated by flooding. Hundreds died in these terrible floods. And hundreds of thousands suffered.

It's so easy to forget these people. But don't. Please.

The American Red Cross, whose disaster relief funds were exhausted in the earlier flood in Rapid City, S.D., is spending over ten million dollars to feed, clothe and house people—your neighbors in 12 states.

Send us money, won't you? Even a dollar is a big help.
